

Fullstack Senior PHP Developer

Up to £90,000 DoE

Following continued growth, a technology driven marketing agency seek an ambitious full stack developer specialising in PHP development. They are currently working on some exciting new projects, including building a full Laravel application that will become core to many of their other platforms which use WordPress, Laravel, Vue.js and Nuxt JS.

This is an fantastic opportunity for someone to join a dedicated and growing development team to help them modernise and improve web products. You will be passionate about developing modern web applications, working equally across the backend and the front end, to deliver highly scalable, maintainable and extendable codebases. The company is social, has away trips several times a year to fun destinations, very collaborative in working style, love their sports and are growing, offering great opportunity for career advancement.

This is a remote based role with a proviso you can meet once a month in Glasgow (funded) for a team gathering.

Essential experience for the Fullstack PHP Developer:-

- 3yrs+ commercial PHP experience
- Over a year of working with JavaScript (including a modern JS Framework like Vue, React, Angular)
- Good experience with GIT
- Database knowledge - ideally MySql

Beneficial to have any of the following:-

- Laravel
- CI/CD
- Tailwind
- Wordpress